Building the home you want at a budget you choose creates a unique home you'll love for years.

Overcoming Barriers
Dispelling the myths that building a home is an expensive, stressful, and low-quality process.

Choosing Your Design
Selecting a suitable lot that complements the design you envision will create a high-quality home that reflects your lifestyle.

The Upfront Estimate
There's no smoke and mirrors. Our estimate process is both reliable and accurate.

COMMUNICATION MADE SIMPLE

If you have chosen a custom homebuilder that cares about your participation in your home build, he or she will ensure the lines of communication are open throughout the entire process. A simple app, regularly updated by your builder, will provide you with a front row seat to the building of your new home.

Complete Transparency

The app will provide you with access to every document related to your custom home build, from your floor plans and estimates to a real-time view of your budget and build schedule. Your builder will take photos throughout your home's construction and post them on the app, allowing you to keep track of the work being done. You will have access to your builder's daily log to keep up to date with the day's accomplishments.

Ease of Use

The beauty of custom homebuilding is choice. While your builder will guide you through the selection process, it is you who gives the final say. The app is set up to send you reminders of the design choices you need to make to keep your project on schedule. When you make a decision on an item, such as hardwood, countertops, tile, etc., you or your builder can enter the decision into the app and the order will be placed.

Builder Access

One of the most important components of custom building is having access to your builder to address concerns and ask questions. Through the app's message board, you connect with your builder in real time. Your builder will be notified when you post a message and he or she will respond. Even after your home is built, you will have access to your builder and the app for the length of your home's warranty.

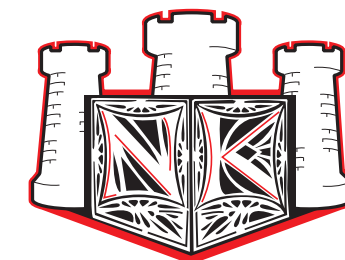

Your home should be the place you feel most comfortable, the place you feel most at ease, and the place you feel best represents you and your family. By focusing on the aspects you want in a home and listening to your custom homebuilder's suggestions on the aspects you may need, your custom home will be everything you envisioned and more. Further, you will be forever happy that you had a front row seat to its creation, construction, and completion.
